

national science week 2014

You're invited to attend the opening of

D'art'a

Featuring historical and contemporary perspectives of Brisbane River-Moreton Bay mangroves set amid an exhibition of mangrove themed art and interactive displays. Wine Cheese and other light refreshments will be served.

Ground Floor, Commissariat Store, 115 William Street, Brisbane
18 August 2014 Doors Open 5.00—7.30pm, Presentations 5.45—7.00pm

With presentations from:

- ◇ Simon Baltais (WPSQ): The role of Citizen Science and other partnerships
- ◇ Jock Mackenzie (MangroveWatch Hub, TropWater, James Cook University): Mangroves in Moreton Bay—healthy or unhealthy? And what can we do to protect them?
- ◇ Dr Norm Duke (MangroveWatch Hub, TropWater, James Cook University): The Historical and Current State of Brisbane River—Moreton Bay mangroves

Featuring art by Deirdre Bean, Glenise Clelland and Nicola Moss

Plus an interactive display by the Redcliffe Environmental Forum

(Art and interactive display will be exhibited until 26 August)

BOOKING for OPENING NIGHT is ESSENTIAL: Please RSVP by 11 August 2014

To: Debra Henry, WPSQ Project Officer 0439914631 debrahenry@wildlife.org.au

WPSQ and MangroveWatch gratefully acknowledge the support of the following organisations in hosting this National Science Week event:

